

R&D Snapshot

2010/11 Australian Pork Limited Travel Awards

Investigator: Various

Purpose:

- Travel Awards play a key role in increasing research sector capacity through assisting Australian researchers to attend and/or present papers at recognised international research forums. This enables researchers to keep abreast of R&D in their field and network with overseas colleagues.

Take home messages:

- APL funds four to six Travel Awards per year. While their immediate value is to the applicant, their findings are of interest to the wider industry. Awards during 2010/11 included:
 - Michele Squire to Attend the 3rd International C. difficile Symposium, Slovenia
 - Eugene McGahan to Attend the International Life Cycle Assessment Conference (LCA Food 2010), Italy
 - Maxine Rice to Attend the 45th Congress of the International Society for Applied Ethology, USA
 - Damian May to Attend and Report on 'Dealing with Listeria in the Processed Meat & Poultry Industries' Industry Summit, Sydney.
